Art Unit: 1756

1. The response of the applicant has been read and given careful consideration. The claims are now directed to copy protected optical recording media, therefore the rejections are somewhat moot. In those cases, no response is provided as the previous rejections of the compounds themselves are obviated by the amendments to the claims.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 2-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 3, the claim should state that the recited compounds are part of the layer providing the copy protection.

4. Claims 4 and 5 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form.

None of the recited compounds in claim 3 correspond to the compounds recited in claims 4 or 5., which are substituted only at the 3 position.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Selinfreund et al. '922

Selinfreund et al. '922 describes the use of various dyes which are deposited on pit surfaces of optical recording media to provide copy protection to the optical recording media by acting a transient optical state change security material. [0127-0131]. Various phenothiazine compounds are disclosed as useful for this [0083-0104]. It seems that in sections [0092-0094] that the dyes found in sections [0095-0096] were tested in this manner.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use one of the disclosed compounds, such as those disclosed in sections [0083-00104] in place of those specifically used in the formation of the transient optical state changing recording medium described in section [0092] with a reasonable expectation of forming a useful copy protected optical recording medium.

The applicant argues in the face of each of the compounds listed in claims 3 being found in figure 6 of Selinfreund et al. '922 and being disclosed as performing the exact function recited in the claim, that there is no reasonable expectation of success. This is simply without merit. The applicant's representative has apparently overlooked that the applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c).

This rejection might also be overcome by showing that the reference is disqualified under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) as prior art in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). See MPEP § 706.02(l)(1) and § 706.02(l)(2).

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

8. Claims 2-6 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17 of copending Application No. 10/418898 (US prepub 2004/0004922). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the copending application clearly embrace copy protected optical recording media using the claimed phenothiazines as these are fully encompassed by the claims of the co-pending application as evidenced by sections [0083-0104] of the copending application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

As of 08/08/06, the examiner has examined the active claims in both cases and the claimed subject matter is not distinct.
